

WERE YOU INVOLVED IN THE ANTI-APARTHEID MOVEMENT?

My name is Kate Law and I am a historian and lecturer in gender studies at the University of the Free State, South Africa. I am looking to interview women who were involved in the British Anti-Apartheid Movement in the 1980s, especially those who worked on the anti-Depo Provera campaign.

My new research project: 'Fighting Fertility: The British Anti-Apartheid Movement and the Politics of Race and Contraception in South Africa c.1980-1994' is partially funded by a Wellcome Trust Grant, and has received full ethical clearance from the University of the Free State. If you, or anyone you know, were involved in the AAM and are happy to be interviewed then please drop me an email at kate.v.law@hotmail.com or tweet me @drkatelaw

For more information about me,
and the project, please visit www.katelaw.co.uk

wellcometrust

